MEMORANDUM FOR: General Cushman

I met this afternoon with Carl Duckett, John Crowley, and John Clarke to talk about how we might change our reporting system on NRO projects in order to serve you and the Director better. We all agreed that the present "DCI Monthly Review" should be scrapped. It was prepared primarily to suit Ruf Taylor and does not satisfy current needs.

We have agreed on the following course of action. In about one week we will present for your approval a status report on all NRO projects for which we are responsible. We can start to work now on the format but our data will not be current until after we meet with [redacted] on 1 July. Assuming this format meets with your approval, we will be prepared to submit the status report to the Director upon his return.

We would thereafter contemplate submitting a status report on a monthly basis and we will strive to present the information in a new format which will be of high quality, will answer questions to which you and the Director should know the answers, and will be relevant to current and upcoming problems with which the ExCom concerns itself.

NRO review(s) completed.
